

Fragment of ancient papyrus with faint, illegible hieroglyphs. The fragment is rectangular and shows signs of significant wear and tear, with frayed edges and some missing sections. The hieroglyphs are arranged in several horizontal lines, though they are too faded to be transcribed accurately. The fragment is mounted on a dark background.