

Fragment of an ancient Greek papyrus scroll with faint, mostly illegible text. The text is arranged in approximately 25 horizontal lines. The papyrus is heavily damaged, with significant fraying and loss of material, particularly along the left and bottom edges. The ink is dark and the background is a light tan color.

